Posted: Jan 21, 2013 On Tuesday, January 29th, a “kick-off meeting” will be held at 7pm at the headquarters of the Statewide Organization of Teachers, Teachers Unions – United Professionals of New York (UFT-UP-NY). We are inviting you to attend, to learn about the new NY Labor Law, and to sign up to work as a new Fair Work Committee member, as either a volunteer or a committee member. The law takes effect on February 1, 2013. The new law includes important protections for teachers, which cannot be enforced, such as the right to due process, and the right to be represented by a union, without retaliation. New protections also extend to teachers who have been called to work without pay during a strike. Teachers must also receive advance notice of school closings, and have access to a list of students they may be called upon to substitute. New penalties for teachers who engage in misconduct also make their actions subject to investigation, discipline, or prosecution. We are inviting you to join us in learning about these new protections, and to support the teachers of New York. Here’s more about the new law: New law protects teachers and students The new law requires school districts and districts’ leadership to consult and bargain with the State United Teachers union (“Agency”), the professional organization of teachers in the state, to achieve agreements covering, among other things: Non-coercive discipline, Work rules, Parent-teacher communication, Allocation of funds, Employment, Compensation, Eviction, School activities, Teacher qualifications, Absenteeism and compensation, Safety, and Academic standards. Since there are no provisions in the law that require the law to be implemented with respect to any of these matters, the law allows the Agency to apply the law in any way it sees fit. The new law does not apply to school budgets or funding. Can’t work due to an act of God, or in connection with a public emergency, Which includes an act of God, An occurrence
