It is not a noise reduction plug-in, rather it helps you extract a frequency component from your existing audio data and then apply it on your audio data to produce new audio content that you can use as you like. Peekenhancer can work with your own pre-recorded audio data (input) and generate new sounds (output) in a wide variety of ways: Select a frequency range: in addition to the pre-defined frequency ranges (low pass, band pass, and high pass), you can select to amplify or attenuate the frequency bands you want, and even you can define the frequency range as wide as you want by picking a customized range from anywhere in the spectrum. Annotate your audio data: add notes, comments or effects to your audio file. Use the latest version of the VST 3 to make the most out of Peekenhancer. Easy to use and learn: Peekenhancer was built as a plug-in that you can use without having to know much about audio editing. The new version also supports setting global defaults in the settings.
